

Charisse Marei is an Eco-Conscious Lifestyle Expert whose passion for empowering people to create a healthy home, healthy lifestyle comes to life in her work as an eco-conscious interior designer, author, consultant, and action-inspiring speaker.

A pioneer in the field of eco-conscious living, Charisse runs a successful boutique consultancy, using her signature framework of release, renew, revitalize—the “3Rs”— to help people transform their lives and the places they live, work, and play.

Charisse earned her B.S in Interior Design from Philadelphia University and is a certified Professional Building Biology Environmental Consultant (BBEC) through the Building Biology Institute where she studied the science of healthy buildings, eco-consultancy, and sustainable design. She’s also completed studies at the Young Living Natural Remedies and Beauty Schools, NY School of Feng Shui, and Graceful Lifestyles.

Charisse has spoken at venues including the University of Pennsylvania, Drexel University, SIM Technology Summit, Park Lane, Holistic Light Expo, and Book Revue in NYC. She’s appeared on Cheddar TV and PCTV network, the Doctor Health Radio Podcast with Dr. Snow, the Health Pro Radio podcast, WDVR 89.7, and WCHE 1520.

Charisse’s books include One Room at a Time: The Bathroom, A Timeless Keepsake, and Eco-Conscious Home: Creating a Healthy Lifestyle in Your Heart & Home. She’ll launch her next book, Eco-Conscious Home for Breathe-able Clean, in 2020.

She lives in Chester County, PA with her husband, Dr. Drew, and their bichon frise Ginger, whose small size doesn’t keep her from filling every room of the house with joy.

Get her books Eco-Conscious Home and the journal A Timeless Keepsake at her website:

CharisseMarei.com

Connect with her across social media.

Charisse has lots of eco-tips for you to start doing today! Just go to her website:

CharisseMarei.com and sign up to get on her email list. Then, download your free gifts and bonuses!